1. Introduction of the Event / Activity:

The Department of Oral Pathology & Microbiology organized a CDE program Hocus Focus- A practical approach to Slide Interpretation & Diagnosis for postgraduates and faculties of the specialty on 8th June, 2023.

2. Objectives :

The main objective of the CDE was to sensitize and train postgraduates and faculty on systematically arriving at diagnosis of a pathology.

3. Brief Information on Proceeding:

The delegates were welcomed by Dr. Vandana Shah, chairperson of the CDE after a brief inaugural session. Prof. (Dr) R V Subramanyam, Dean KMSDCH welcomed the delegates on behalf of the Institute.

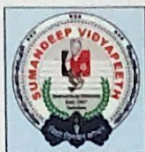

The first part of the CDE was a lecture on "Practical Approach to slide Interpretation & Diagnosis" delivered by Prof. R V Subramanyam

After a short break 12 slides were given to each participant for observing and interpreting the diagnosis. A brief history was given for each case.

After lunch break each guest speaker deliberated on their case and it was discussed.

The speakers and their cases were as follows:-

- Dr. R V. Subramanyam: Pemphigoid
- Dr. Rashmi Phullari: Odontogenic Keratocyst
- Dr. Arpan Shah: Primordial Odontogenic Tumor & Osteosarcoma

Direct microscopic slide discussion

To do this on periodic basis

Basics in normal histology analysis

Very good

More such events must be held on periodic basis

NIL

Frequent slide seminars will be very great.

You can do histology quiz

Frequent sessions like Hocus Focus should be there for gathering and sharing experiences from faculties, PGs and practising OPs.

No suggestions

Slide identification by participants followed by discussion of the slides is a very good approach. Master classes and know your field programs would benefit students..

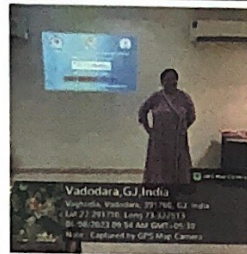

It was very informative and interesting session.

Live slide discussion showing different fields that have different types of cells so that we can better understand the morphology

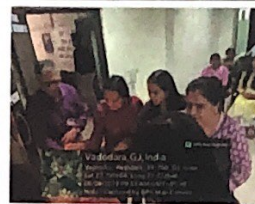

Case discussions

Tremendous work. Plz invite more delegates n make it big otherwise it was nice experience.
